Earth Day – Susan Paynter

Discussion and brainstorm on a community wide celebration

The Chair invited Woodstock's eco-leaders to join an Earth Week brainstorming during WEC's meeting on Wednesday, Feb 4th at 6:00 at the Comeau. This year, Earth Day has evolved into Earth Week.

Earth Day is celebrated annually on April 22 to promote environmental protection, raise awareness about issues like pollution and climate change, and encourage global action for a sustainable future. Initiated in 1970, it serves as a reminder to protect natural resources and supports the modern environmental movement.
