

Andy Lee Field Recreational Facilities Master Plan

Town of Woodstock, NY

An architectural rendering of a proposed recreational facility. The scene features a large, multi-winged red barn-style building with a brown tiled roof and numerous windows. A paved path leads from the building towards a large, open green lawn. In the foreground, there is a playground with wooden structures, slides, and a small circular water feature. Several small figures of people are scattered throughout the scene, including some walking on the path and others sitting on benches. The background shows a line of trees under a blue sky with scattered white clouds.

Mission Statement

"We envision the transformation of the Woodstock Youth Center and Andy Lee campus into a vibrant community hub, fostering a safe, inclusive, accessible, and nurturing space for our youth and for all. Through this investment in Woodstock's future, we aim to strengthen intergenerational ties and enhance the appeal of our town for families. With a focus on health, recreation, and community connection, we strive to establish a third space that serves as a cornerstone for the holistic well-being of our youth and the entire community."

Health & Economic Benefits

- Creating a space for community - multigenerational and age-friendly communities create a vehicle to bring generations together: reduce age segregation and ageism, decrease social isolation, depression, and loneliness, improve community infrastructure and facilities
- Attracting Families
- Safety
- Wellness
- Senior Support
- Permanent multi-use pavilion can serve as a source of community and economic development.

Task Force Rationale and Approach

- Appointed in mid 2023 by the Town Supervisor
- All volunteers
- Met weekly for almost two years
- Only two sacred cows (Community Center/Dutch Elm Tree)
- Asked the community, what does it want?
 - Met with hundreds of town constituents/stakeholder groups to gather input on needs and desires
 - Mailed survey to approximately 5000 Woodstock residents
 - Focus groups/billboards/countless discussions
 - Five Public Be Heard meetings
 - Three Community/Town Board Presentations

Brief Overview of the History of Youth Center and Rec Field

Prior to 1790 - Lenape hunting grounds

1790s-1920s - farmland

1832 - Cemetery founded

Early 1920s - Fish & Game club acquired land,
Baseball diamond built by volunteers

1921-1922 - St. Joan's church built

1948 - Fish & Game club donate land to town as a "living war memorial"

1950s - pool donated to the Town, Little League begins

1956 - Local teen Andy Lee killed in tragic hunting accident; local teens petition to have Rec Field renamed after Andy Lee

1974 - Town acquires St. Joan's church and Youth Center building

1990 - basketball court added

Early 2000s - community garden founded

Andy Lee

About halfway up Rock City Road lies the Woodstock recreation field named in honor of Andy Lee. And yet not many Woodstockers know why it bears the name it does or who Andy Lee was. Andy Lee was the type of teenager who would make any town proud. An excellent student, Lee also participated in a wide variety of extracurricular activities while attending Kingston High School (as Woodstock students did during the 1950s). He served as vice president of the student council and treasurer of the junior class. Lee also excelled at football, having been selected as a member of Kingston's varsity team as a sophomore. Well-loved by his fellow students, Andy Lee was selected as both the best athlete and most popular boy by the junior class. Andy Lee's life came to a tragic end on a cold January day in 1956. While hunting with two friends, one member of the group, according to press accounts, slipped as he was about to fire upon partridges that had just taken flight. Lee was struck in the chest by the wayward round from his friend's 12-gauge shotgun. Andy Lee died before he could be taken to the hospital and was laid to rest in the Woodstock Cemetery next to the field that now bears his name.

THE ANDY LEE MEMORIAL FIELD. The Andy Lee Memorial Field was named after a young man killed in a shooting accident. Once part of a farm, the field is now the site of many activities, including Little League, adult softball, family picnics, the town recreation program, and ice-skating. Shown are members of the 1957 Woodstock Yankees. From left to right are the following: (first row) Stan Longyear, Ross VanWagenen, John Mower, and ? McClocklan; (second row) Jackie Wilber, Roger Graham, Bob Gordon, Lloyd Gibson, and Roger Phelps; (third row) Dennis Shultis, Jay VanWagenen, Alex Sharpe, Jim Kinns, and Rowan Dordick; (fourth row) ? Di Benedetto, Rudi

ST. JOAN D'ARC CATHOLIC CHURCH. Just past the main cemetery, within the comp as the Andy Lee Memorial Field, is the building that was once home to the loc Catholic parish. Construction on St. Joan d'Arc Catholic Church began in 1921, Peter Spellman said the first Mass on June 25, 1922. (Author's collection.)
